Francis “Pete” Farnum ’40

Francis H. Farnum Jr., 95, died peacefully on October 20, 2016 after a short stay at Mercy Hospital. He was born on January 10, 1921, in Augusta, ME to Col. Francis H. Farnum and Florence Gannett Farnum. Francis, nicknamed Peter, developed a love for flying at an early age. For his 15th birthday, his grandfather, William Howard Gannett, bought him a plane. He and his flight instructor flew out to Columbus, OH to pick up the Aerocama Chief single engine plane. Since the plane had no radio communication or navigational instruments, the young teenager followed his instructor back home to Augusta in his new plane. When asked how he did that, Peter explained, “When my instructor flew around a cloud, I flew around it. When he landed to fuel, I landed behind him.” Since his Grandfather Gannett was an adventurous entrepreneur himself, he was thrilled to see that his grandson enjoyed the sky and looked forward to all the travels the small plane would give him. While in school, Peter spent summers flying supplies and mail to the forestry service men stationed in fire towers in northern Maine. He would land his plane on a lake, hike up to the tower to deliver the goods, hike back down to the lake and take off. Sometimes he would catch a few fish in a lake and throw them into his pontoons to bring back for dinner. At the end of the summer he landed on wet grass at the Portland Airport to exchange his pontoons for wheels. Peter graduated from Governor Dummer Academy in 1940. He entered the Engineering Program at the University of Maine and enlisted in the Army after completing his core engineering courses. Before going overseas, he married Edith Elinor Small in September of 1944. He went back to UMaine after the war to finish college as the famous UMaine Class of 1944 in 1947. Peter met his wife Edith at an early age on Lake Cobbosseecontee where their families both owned cottages. The two spent many summers swimming.
sailing and golfing together. When Edith remained at college one summer to finish up her degree, seeing each other was no problem as he would just fly down to visit her. He eventually convinced Edith to get her own pilots license so they could enjoy piloting the plane together. After raising five children, Peter sold their large house in Falmouth and moved to Freeport. He became active in the South Freeport Congregational Church where he often ushered and was a regular in helping with the bi-monthly chowder luncheons. He was a self-taught skilled craftsman and did many repairs around the church as well as built furniture for his children and grandchildren. Peter also was an avid vegetable gardener for almost nine decades, inheriting the skills from his mother who owned acres of gardens on the Gannett estate in Augusta. After moving to Freeport, he soon outgrew his first small vegetable garden on the front lawn so he took over most of his wife’s back yard flower garden to plant tomatoes, melons, pumpkins, corn and raspberries. Friends who enjoyed their 71 year marriage often remarked at how well they got along. Edith admitted her impatience was balanced out by Peter’s unusual patience and good nature. Everyone called him a true gentleman who was quiet and never really talked about his accomplishments. His children recall that he was a Mason, member of the Rotary Club, and a trustee on the Freeport Conservation Trust. He worked for many years as station manager for WGAN radio at Guy Gannett Communications which was started by his uncle, Guy Gannett. Later, he went on to acquire C.J. Merrill, a manufacturing company and Vanderpool Associates, a manufacturer’s representative company. Peter was the oldest member of the Casco Bay YMCA where he worked out religiously several mornings a week at 6 a.m. sharp. After a stroke in 2012 he participated in the Adaptive Services Program which helped him regain his strength. He was predeceased by his wife, Edith, in February 2016 and is survived by his children, Robert Farnum, Susan Rippey, Rebecca Farnum, Meredith Farnum and Pete Farnum, eleven grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Widgery Thomas ’43

Widgery Thomas, Jr., 94, of Scarborough, passed away surrounded by his loving family on November 22, 2018. Widgery was born at home at 31 Pine Street in Portland, ME, on July 18, 1924, to Widgery Thomas, Sr. and Zella Bridge Thomas. He was predeceased by his wife, Joann (known as “Jonnie”), with whom he raised five children and enjoyed 60 years of love and friendship. Widgery attended Portland public schools and Governor Dummer Academy, graduating in 1943. He enlisted in the U.S. Navy and became a helmsman on a destroyer in the North Sea. At the end of the war he entered Bowdoin College and joined the Class of 1946. Widgery was the fourth generation of the Thomas family to attend Bowdoin College, and was the great-great-great-grandson of William Widgery Thomas, one of the original overseers of Bowdoin. While at Bowdoin, Widgery proudly carried on the family tradition of being a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon and was a member of the swim team. Widgery met Jonnie while she was a student at Garland Junior College and they married in 1949. After graduating from Bowdoin, Widgery went to work in the sales department for the Portland Company. He eventually followed in his father’s footsteps and had a distinguished career with Channel National Bank, where he served as President and Chairman of the Board for many years. Many Portland business people gratefully recall Widgery’s willingness to work with them in building their businesses. Widgery later joined Corporate Finance, where he worked with his nephew, Seth Sprague, for many years, retiring in 2006. Widgery was as at home on the sea as in the boardroom. As teenagers, Widgery and his good friend, John White, could be found pulling lobster traps and later sailing throughout Casco Bay. A lifelong sailor and member and past Commodore of the Harraseeker Yacht Club, Widgery and Jonnie and their five children enjoyed summer cruises down the coast of Maine in their many boats, Calypso, Andiamo, Patience, Quikstep and Cockle. Always the fierce competitor, Widgery enjoyed success on the high seas in many races, including Monhegan, Halifax, Newport to Bermuda and the Friendship Sloop races. Some of the family’s fondest memories were joining the Sprague family every winter weekend at their home in Kingfield, affectionately known as “Wee Farm.” Widgery and Jonnie taught their children to ski at Sugarloaf and shared many laughs and fun times with siblings and cousins. Widgery and Jonnie traveled extensively and particularly enjoyed visiting England, Bermuda, Ireland, Germany, Alaska and Hawaii, and their transatlantic trip on the Queen Elizabeth 2. Widgery was active throughout his life serving others. He served on the Board of Trustees of Governor Dummer Academy and Westbrook College/University of New England, and was an enthusiastic supporter and alumnus of Bowdoin College. Widgery was very proud of attaining the designation of Eagle Scout and served on the Board of the Pine Tree Council of the Boy Scouts. Widgery also served as President of the YMCA Board and chaired the committee to build the Portland YMCA swimming pool. He was an active member and Trustee of his beloved Trinity Episcopal Church. In the early years, with Jonnie and five children in tow, Widgery could regularly be found at the Sunday morning service sitting in the first pew on the right side. At the ripe old age of 50, Widgery decided to take up running. Never one to do anything half-way, Widgery pursued his new sport with a vengeance, joining the Maine Track Club and eventually running the Maine Coast Marathon and the Marine Corps Marathon. Widgery ran his last Beach to Beacon race with his daughter, Gay, at the age of 80. Widgery and Jonnie had 10 grandchildren and enjoyed attending their many sporting events in high school and college. Widgery often traveled many miles to attend his grandchildren’s soccer and lacrosse games throughout New England and was an enthusiastic fan on the sidelines. He never missed an opportunity to watch his beloved Red Sox, Patriots, Celtics and Bruins. Widgery was a member of the Cumberland Club, Portland Country Club and the “Know Nothing Club,” a group of old friends who gathered regularly for lunch at the Portland Country Club to discuss...nothing. At Widgery’s father’s memorial service at Bowdoin College, it was said that he was “a man of great energy and of infinite humor.” The same can be said of Widgery, Jr. He will be remembered for his quick wit, generous nature, incredible memory and recall of Thomas genealogy. Widgery is predeceased by his wife, Jonnie; his sons, William Thomas and Charles Thomas; and his sister, Zella Dewey, and brother-in-law, Ned Dewey. He is survived by his sister, Mary Lou Sprague and brother-in-law, Phineas Sprague; his son, Peter, and daughter-in-law Roxanne and their two sons, Jonathan and Michael; his son, Jonathan (“Jack”), and daughter-in-law, Susan, and their children, Christopher, Alex and Libby; his daughter, Gay Sampson, and son-in-law, Nick, and their sons, Nicky, Tucker and Adam; his grandsons, Joshua and Nathan; his great-grandson, Teddy; and many cousins, nieces and nephews. He will be sorely missed by his great friends, Victoria...
King and Mickey Higgins. The family would like to extend their special thanks to all the caregivers and professionals who cared for Widgy at Piper Shores and Maine Medical Center.

A skilled and accomplished fly-fisherman, Ron was known to spend countless hours on weekends and holidays fishing his favorite lakes and streams through New Hampshire, Vermont, Maine, and Eastern Canada as well as bone fishing in the Bahamas. An English major in college, Ron was an avid reader throughout his life—his Kindles were always filled with the latest novels and his recycling bin was bursting with spent newspapers. He cherished playing Scrabble or challenging the New York Times crossword puzzle with Connie, and was also an accomplished card player (favoring bridge over all other games). Ron treasured time spent with friends, traveling the world, watching sports (rooting for his alma mater, Boston professional teams, and the New York Giants), and enjoying the abundance of natural beauty throughout his native New Hampshire—everything from swimming and canoeing on Lake Sunapee to hiking and camping in the White Mountains; from hunting and fishing at the Dartmouth Grant to playing pick-up hockey games on Occum Pond. Cherished family times included annual fly-fishing trips to Stowe, VT, camping excursions up and down the Eastern Seaboard in an RV, annual Campion Family Reunions (“Wimblewood”), as well as relaxing at their family home on Lake Sunapee (including cruising in his electric boat, aptly named “Dearheart”). While living in Hanover, NH, Ron was actively involved in a number of civic endeavors aside from helping run the family business, including boards and committees for Mary Hitchcock Memorial Hospital, Hanover Improvement Society, Hanover Rotary Club, Hanover Chamber of Commerce, Hanover School District, Dartmouth National Bank, Fleet Bank, Bank of America, Dartmouth College Athletic Council, Dartmouth Fraternity Governing Board, Dartmouth Alumni Council, Dartmouth Task Force on Budget Priorities, Howe Library Corporation, Hanover Hockey Association, Hanover Finance Committee, United Way, Varsity Courts Tennis Club, the Marauder Booster Club, and the X-Club. In 1986, the Town of Hanover awarded Ron its Citizen of the Year Award for his love and dedication to the town. Ron is preceded in death by his wife Connie, his parents, stepmother Esther Riley Campion, brother James Campion III, and sisters-in-law Christine C. Fleischli and Ann M. Fleischli. Ron is survived by sons Brian W. Campion (Dulcy) of East Thetford, VT and Eric R. Campion (Denise) of Vero Beach, FL; grandsons Zachariah R. Campion of Ridgefield, CT and Noah T. Campion of Vero Beach FL; sisters-in-law Dorothy Campion-Corcoran of Pittsboro, NC and Nancy F. Evans of Springfield, IL; brothers-in-law Dr. Edward C. Fleischli of New Canaan, CT, Dr. Donald J. (MaryEllen) Fleischli of La Jolla, CA, John “Jack” P. (B.J.) Fleischli of Rochester, IL, and George R. Frederick Tarr ’54

Frederick H. Tarr III, 83, of Rockport, MA, passed away at his home on Tuesday evening, September 25, 2018. Ted was born in Newton, MA, on September 20, 1935, the son of the late Frederick H. Tarr Jr. and Elizabeth (Rogers) Tarr. He attended both Gloucester High School and Governor Dummer Academy, followed by his pursuit of a bachelor’s degree in Biology from Washington and Lee University in Lexington, VA. After college he served in the U.S. Army, as Specialist 5 in the language interpreter service, spending time in Japan using his knowledge of Russian. Once back in Massachusetts, he worked in the state laboratory in Framingham, focusing on cancer research, then moved to Arthur D. Little, where he worked for a number of years while living on Beacon Hill, before returning to Cape Ann. Throughout his life, Ted’s passion was nature, wildlife, and hiking, as well as local politics and public service, and he was always willing to lend a hand to anyone in need. The stories about Ted are truly endless, but one of the most interesting is how he purchased a mail-order alligator while in the sixth grade, which he named “Alger Hiss.” He kept the alligator as a part of his family for 44 years! Passionately committed to the environment, he offered his services for many years as an environmental consultant—always recognizable by his license plate, “Eco-Sys.” He actively worked to preserve many of Rockport’s treasured open spaces, including the Atlantic Path, Halibut Point State Park, Thacher Island, Woodland Acres, the Kieran Preserve, and many others. Ted also served on countless town committees and boards including the Rockport Board of Selectmen, Conservation Commission, Planning Board, and the Millbrook Meadow Committee, among others. His interests and passion extended to the whole region, however, and he was also an active supporter of Cape Ann Trail Stewards, Essex County Greenbelt, Dogtown Advisory Committee, and many other conservation groups. He also served for many years in Rockport’s Forest Fire Service, and his classic Hummer was a fixture in the Annual 4th of July Firemen’s Parade, often serving as a platform for “cousin Bruce”—State Senator Bruce Tarr. What Ted may be best remembered for, however, is his devotion to his weekly Sunday Morning Walks through the woods of Cape Ann, which he led for more than 40 years. He carefully planned his walks and typically trimmed and blazed the trails the day before to make sure the going would be easy for everyone else. The Sunday hikes continue to this day, led by others who are committed to keeping Ted’s weekly tradition going. Ted is survived locally by his first cousin Sharon H. Chace and her husband Ernie of Rockport, along with a number of more distant relatives scattered around the country.

Frederick Sang ’69

Frederick Bissell Sang, 66, earned his wings on February 5, 2018. He is survived by his wife: Irma Sang; Son: Frederick B. Sang III (Stephanie); Daughter: Brenda L. Somoza (Ernesto); Brother: Robert Sang; Sister: Elizabeth Miller (Gary); Granddaughters: Annabelle Grace Somoza and Amaya Cierra Somoza. Hard-working: Fred never stopped. He couldn’t just sit around, there was always work to be done and he didn’t stop until it was finished. He was proud of his work and did it with integrity. Respectful: Fred respected everyone he met and taught all his loved ones to do the same Loyal: Fred was loyal in all aspects of life. To his loving wife, family, friends and work. Honest: Fred took pride in his work and telling it the way it is. If he said he was going to do something, he did it 100%. Fred was a dive-master who enjoyed life out on a boat surrounded by ocean. He enjoyed golfing. While Fred had many hobbies and interests, simply being with his family was his priority and what he enjoyed most in life whether it be just spending time with them at home or cooking out for them, planning annual trips, camping out by the lake and so forth. Fred was an active-member in his community by being part of both the rotary club and president of the school board. Being a part of the school board was very important to him, and he cared deeply about the student’s succeeding and the staff being happy. While Fred didn’t have a specific favorite flower, he absolutely loved when Spring rolled around and his wife gardened, filling all their pots with beautiful, bright flowers. Fred would want to be remembered for the honorable man that he was. A loving, hard-working man for his family, a beloved brother to his siblings, and to his community to whom he was always loyal.

Timothy Pierce ’83

Timothy Cameron Pierce, beloved brother, son, uncle, and lifelong Marblehead, MA, resident, died November 5, 2018. Tim was born May 27, 1964 in Salem. His twin sister Susie was healthy, but Tim had a rare genetic condition, Laurence-Moon-Bardet-Beidl syndrome, which includes progressive blindness (retinitis pigmentosa) and kidney disease, among other physical challenges. Having some sight as a child, Tim was an avid reader and developed passions for Winnie-the-Pooh, baseball, and card games. His lifelong love of the Red Sox began during summers in Maine, when he watched countless games with his beloved grandmother, for whom he was a particular favorite. Listening to Red Sox games became a favored pastime that sustained Tim throughout his life; with his remarkable memory, he could recall virtually any play of any game, often including specific pitches. This year’s Red Sox World Series victory seemed to be for Tim. Losing his sight completely at age 14, Tim mastered Braille and walking with a cane and was able to successfully navigate his school work, graduating... from Governor Dummer Academy and Gordon College with a degree in English. He later earned a certificate in medical transcription at Perkins School for the Blind. Tim soon turned his attention to his passion for poetry, composing glowing tributes to his favorite sports stars and delighting his sisters with poems that captured cherished childhood memories or described every detail of a recent visit, right down to the food! Tim also loved word play and puns, and during these family gatherings, he amused everyone with his latest puns and treated family members to his coveted back rubs. Tim was a gentle soul, sensitive, sweet, loyal, and kind, with a strong desire to help those who had suffered a loss or an illness or a sad time in their lives. He reached out to family, friends, and many others, filling their mailboxes with tapes of uplifting songs from musicals, his special favorite (he could sing the words to the entire score of most musicals!) or of inspiring Red Sox game highlights or with pieces of scripture or painstakingly-typed copies of his poems, offering words of comfort and encouragement. In recent years, despite feeling increasingly anxious about his health, having had two kidney transplants, Tim continued to be sustained by his faith. His spirituality had blossomed in college, and he enjoyed attending Bible Study with friends and listening to stories from the Bible or Christian radio stations. Moments before he died, a beautiful, bright smile lit Tim’s entire face, suggesting that he had a vision of peace and freedom from the pain and anxiety that had colored his recent years. It is lovely to think that he might have been able to see fully at last. Tim is survived by his father Laurence Pierce; his stepmother Nancy Buffler; his three sisters and their husbands, Hilary and Chuck Jackson of Darien, CT, Susanna and Daniel Pratt of Marblehead, MA, and Sarah and Adam Levy of Harpswell, ME; and by nine nieces and nephews, Sam, Olivia, and Diana Jackson, Henry, William, Benjamin, and Emily Pratt, and Jonah and Emma Levy. He is predeceased by his mother Diana Pierce and his brother Robin Bruce Pierce.
